

Integrated models of care to support psychosocial needs – during and beyond COVID-19

Six sessions 15 September 2020 to 2 March 2021 (session every 4 weeks excluding January)

Tuesdays 12-1pm Queensland time

To register your interest: <https://bit.ly/3l0tCfs>

Includes brief presentations on topics including:

- Virtual service delivery
- Transition points in consumer care
- Complex trauma in grief and loss
- Support for vulnerable communities
- Hidden trauma impacts on staff

Who should join?

- ✓ Health care providers, including allied health, nursing and medical professionals
- ✓ Hospital and primary care providers
- ✓ University partners
- ✓ Social service professionals, including family & domestic violence, education and housing
- ✓ Public and private sectors
- ✓ Partners concerned with integrated care

Are you involved in designing, delivering or supporting integrated models of care to meet the psychosocial needs of consumers during and following the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic?

Join this free inter-professional community of practice for regular, interactive support and guidance from your co-participants and a panel of experts:

Janine Kemp – A/Social Work Consultant, Children's Health Queensland

Dr Alex Chaudhuri – Director of Infectious Diseases, Metro North Hospital & Health Service

Monique Gordon – Social Work Team Leader, The Royal Melbourne Hospital

Rebecca Taylor – CNC Advance Care Planning Program Manager, Metro North Hospital & Health Service

Sessions occur via Zoom. Active participation is valued and we encourage you to bring a de-identified case to discuss.

Benefits of ECHO:

- ❖ Improved outcomes for health care consumers, their families and communities
- ❖ Interactive learning and co-management of cases
- ❖ Better access to care for people in rural and under-served areas
- ❖ Increased self-efficacy and decreased professional isolation
- ❖ Inter-connected network of providers

For more information visit Project ECHO®

To register your interest: <https://bit.ly/3l0tCfs>

t 07 3069 7120

e ECHO.CHQ@health.qld.gov.au

