YOUR INVITATION

Launching the PainWISE Community Pain Support Initiative

Dear Healthcare Professional,

- According to Pain Australia's 2019 National Pain Strategy findings, people who live in regional and remote Australia are more likely to have chronic pain than those who live in major cities.
- Higher rates of pain may be associated with rural industries such as agriculture, mining, forestry and fishing which have higher rates of injury.
- Almost 1 in 5 GP consultations involve a patient with chronic pain, and more than a 1/3 of these report severe, disabling chronic pain.
- Up to 80% of patients miss out on treatments that could improve their quality of life and

You are invited to the launch evening of the PainWISE Community Pain Support Initiative. This initiative is to support regional and rural Australian's who live with chronic pain.
