

CANCER SCREENING WEBINARS 2022

Join us online to discuss Cancer Screening in two upcoming webinars.

These sessions are for GPs, nurses and any other healthcare providers with an interest in cancer screening and there is no cost to participate. There are two CPD points available to RACGP members for each webinar. All registered participants will be sent the webinar recording after the event.

Cervical Screening: Universal Access to Self-Collection & Optimising the Screening Experience for People with an Intellectual Disability. Tuesday 7 June, 6pm-7pm AEST.

Australia is on track to be the first country in the world to eliminate cervical cancer – this will only happen if we address the cervical screening equity gaps for those who are under or never screened, including people with an intellectual disability.

This webinar covers:

- Cervical Screening changes effective from 1 July 2022: universal access to self-collection and what that means for you and your patients.
- How to support patients with an intellectual disability to participate in cervical screening and optimise their screening experience.

Meet the Presenter: Professor Deborah Bateson (Medical Director at Family Planning NSW and Clinical Professor at The University of Sydney) has worked as a clinician, researcher, and sexual and reproductive health educator for 20+ years. She is the co-author of the National Cervical Screening Guidelines and is the Chief Investigator of the NHRMC-funded CIRCE project: 'Overcoming Inequity: Increasing Cervical Screening Participation for People with Intellectual Disability'.

Register to attend: <https://bit.ly/3MhBRRC>

For any queries: LiaisonTeam@acpcc.org.au

Meeting the Cancer Screening Needs of the LGBTQA+ Community

Wednesday 22 June, 6pm-7pm AEST.

The LGBTQA+ community experience a number of barriers that may deter them from accessing routine cancer screening services.

This webinar covers:

- Clinical considerations for breast, cervical, bowel and prostate cancer screening for LGBTQA+ people
- How you can provide and promote safe and inclusive cancer screening services for this community.

Meet the Presenter: Practicing general practitioner and Associate Professor Ruth McNair (University of Melbourne, Department of General Practice), is a member of the Order of Australia for services to medicine and the LGBTQA+ community through policy and community development.

Register to attend: <https://bit.ly/3MkyCZJ>

These webinars are facilitated by the Australian Centre for the Prevention of Cervical Cancer (ACPCC) with funding from the Victorian Department of Health and initiated with the cancer screening partners Cancer Council Victoria, BreastScreen Victoria and the Victorian Aboriginal Controlled Community Health Organisation.

